LONDON, June 2.—All fighting in Iraq was reported at an end today as British forces took charge of the country and its fabulous oil supplies which lubricate the engines of war.

Latest reports from Cairo stated that the new Iraqi government that replaced the "rebel" Rashid Ali regime will allow British troops to be transported without hindrance through Iraqi territory. Rashid Ali's refusal to permit this was the spark that precipitated the fighting a month ago.

Armistice In Effect
A British-dictated armistice was put into effect at Baghdad and British troops occupied the Iraqi capital. An official announcement said the armistice applies to the entire country. It includes provisions whereby British prisoners in Iraq will be interned by the Iraqi government and Iraqi prisoners taken by the British will be handed back to the Iraqi regent, Abdul Ilah.

In addition, Imperial British troops were understood to have reached the northern Mosul oil fields on the heels of fleeing German and Italian air force units.

Oil Wells—Lines Undamaged
They found the Mosul oil wells and the pipeline to Haifa, Palestine, undamaged.

Traffic on the highways in this

Judging from the number of on Sunday, there must have been a number of minor accidents that put autos out of running condition.

Traffic on Route 422 reached a peak on Sunday afternoon. For 1000 cars per hour and several

U. S. Ambassador To Brit-

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Some informed Washington observers today believe that John G. Winant, American ambassador to London, has returned to the United States to report personally to President Roosevelt the terms of a German peace offer to Britain.

Speculation revolves on the possibility that a German peace offer was actually delivered to the British by Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, after his sensational solo flight to Scotland May 10. If Hess did carry an official or unofficial German peace offer, it is pointed out, then Winant would be the logical person to bring news of it, along with the British government's reaction to President Roosevelt.

Aside from Winant's return, there have been other rumors in Wash-

Pope Pius Firm For 'New Order'

Special Broadcast Lays Down Principles For Post-War Society

THREE MAJOR POINTS STRESSED IN TALK

(International News Service)
VATICAN CITY, June 2.—Pope
Pius XII stood firm today for a "new order" following the present war, with material goods and the men who produce them distributed more equitably over the earth.

In a special encyclical broadcast over the Vatican radio, his holiness called for a post-war society based on principles laid down by Pope Leo XIII in his encyclical "Rerum No-varum".

The pontiff stressed three major points—more equitable distribution of the world's goods, respect for the rights of labor and respect for the integrity and well-being of the family. He said:

"Goods were created by God for all men. Every man as a living being fitted with reason has, in fact, from nature a fundamental right to make use of the materials and goods of the earth, while it is left to the will of man and laws of nations to regulate in greater detail the operation of this right."

Sen. Norris Urges President To Act In Strike Tieups

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—Sen.
Norris (D) Neb., leader of the Congressional Liberal block, today urged President Roosevelt to take over strike-bound defense plants, and
"settle the differences afterwards."

Norris, who has supported labor legislation throughout his long congressional career, said that "regardless of who is to blame" in some of the labor disputes "defense production must go on."

Warning that labor is likely to "lose its gains" if tieups in defense industries continue, Norris said "I think something will have to be done."

"There are some places where the president ought to take over the whole works," he said. "The great bulk of labor is not to blame but we cannot afford to wait for settlement through the usual channels."

A MIDDLE EAST PORT,

evacuated from Crete told grim stories today of the fall of the Mediterranean island after 12 days of probably the fiercest fighting this or any

Weary, travel-stained and beard-troops reached this port after be-incessant dive-bombing attacks from Nazi Stukas.

A New Zealand veteran related:
"The sky was a whirling mass of planes, bombing and machine-gunning, as we marched wearily 30 miles over the mountains to our points of embarkation."
"The weather was atrocious—rain, snow and hail. Also, the wounded sloved us up."

One party of 60 Anzacs swam in formation a distance of 3,000 yards from a beach to a destroyer west of Canea. As they swam German Stukas dived low over the water and machine-gunned them.

Truck Drivers And Helpers Strike

Pittsburgh Is Scene Of Strike

Mediation Efforts Are Being Attempted But Are Not Successful As Yet

SAYS PERISHABLES BEING TRANSPORTED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 2.—Movements of all but perishable truck-borne defense cargoes were brought to a virtual standstill in the industrial Pittsburgh area today by a A. F. L. strike involving 2,500 drivers and helpers in the city's $75,000,000 motor transportation industry.

Mediation efforts of John A. Moffitt of the U. S. Department of Labor so far have been ineffective. Negotiations on the strike, which began Saturday night, were continuing today.

Trucks loaded with non-perishable freight were being halted by roving bands of strikers who escorted the vehicles to parking lots and garages. Trucks were not permitted to unload or to move to other cities.

Police were not interfering, although in some instances traffic was reported blocked.

Perishables Moving
Scott F. Marshall, secretary of the A. F. L.-International Union of Teamsters, Local 249, said supplies of milk, perishable foods, meat, cattle bound for stockyards and home deliveries from stores were permitted to pass.

Truck drivers were forced to show the invoices and bills of lading of material they were hauling. If the cargo was non-perishable, two or more striking drivers escorted the truck to a parking lot or garage.

Moffitt, after a five-hour conference yesterday with representatives of the 179 firms engaged in intracity, inter-state and intra-state freight hauling, and the 1,000 A. F.

L. drivers and their assistants, scheduled another emergency meeting for today.

The drivers, members of the teamsters union, parked their trucks and quit work Saturday night after negotiations collapsed. Crux of the dispute is the 10-cents-an-hour wage demand of the drivers, which the operators contend they cannot pay. The requested raise would amount to more than $1,000,000 annually, they said.

SURVIVORS TELL GRIM STRUGGLE OF TERRIFIC AT CRETE

ress in the hills of Crete between the British rear guard and the advancing Germans as the ships managed to get out the painfully wounded on Saturday.

All paid tribute to the heroism of the doctors and medical staffs who calmly carried on with their duties despite continuous aerial strafing.

500 Planes At Once
Sometimes there would be as many as 500 German planes in the air at one time—all spewing down a veritable hail of bombs and machine guns on the earth.

One evacuee said he counted 300 bombs during the single two-hour strafing during which the British had to take shelter in caves, in ravines and in gulleys—any place that offered protection from the death-dealing blasts.

All the soldiers told stories of the utter disregard of the Germans for their own losses and even mass aerial arrangements. One trooper declared he saw even German howitzers landed by parachute.

Many of the survivors spoke with awe in their voices of one bearded royal marine, Lance Corporal Neil, who was last seen with two companions near Canea—"fighting it out with the Luftwaffe."

Neil was in command of a Boffers gun and a truck loaded with ammunition.

Brought Down Machines
As the soldiers told it, he was shouting and singing and blazing away with his gun at the swooping planes, calmly bringing down "machine after machine" while the Stukas in flights of five and six attempted to finish off virtually the last British resistance.

A Maori, lying in a hospital, was bitter about it, and said the battle of Crete could have been won by the British in a matter of hours if they had had sufficient aerial support.

But a fierce light shone in his eyes as he told how his unit fought from dusk to dawn, slashing down hundreds of Germans with the bayonet.

"The Germans were terrified by our bayonets," he said. "By day we lay at the mercy of the Stukas. By night we unsheathed our bayonets and cut them to pieces."

After being twice wounded, the Maori, an imperial arm sergeant, told how he and a wounded New Zealander began a three-day march from the battle area.

Many Dead Germans
"It was impossible to walk three yards without stepping over dead Germans," he declared.

"Such slaughter must be seen to be believed."

"In the woods, on the mountain sides, corpses lay in dozens. Many were found by the branches of trees, strangled by their parachute cords. The battle was utter confusion. Parachutists landed in all directions. The wounded underwent operations under fire and frequently were overtaken by the tide of battle—sometimes even the armless and legless."

His uncle, the regent, entered Baghdad yesterday and was understood to be establishing a new constitutional government pledged to abide by terms of the Anglo-Iraq treaty.

British authorities announced officially the text of the armistice was "drawn up in accordance with the policy of his majesty's government to abstain from any infringement upon Iraqi independence and to afford the regent every assistance in re-establishing a legal government to resume a normal and prosperous existence."

Under the terms of the armistice, the British will receive privileges stipulated in the Anglo-Iraq treaty which the fugitive premier Rashid Ali violated. These include access to highways, railways, airports and other communication facilities. All British prisoners taken by Iraqi forces during the brief struggle will be released and returned to British authorities.

year-old Feisal II, conflicted. First advice said he was safe in Baghdad. Later reports cast some doubt on his whereabouts.

His uncle, the regent, entered Baghdad yesterday and was understood to be establishing a new constitutional government pledged to abide by terms of the Anglo-Iraq treaty.

British authorities announced officially the text of the armistice was "drawn up in accordance with the policy of his majesty's government to abstain from any infringement upon Iraqi independence and to afford the regent every assistance in re-establishing a legal government to resume a normal and prosperous existence."

Under the terms of the armistice, the British will receive privileges stipulated in the Anglo-Iraq treaty which the fugitive premier Rashid Ali violated. These include access to highways, railways, airports and other communication facilities. All British prisoners taken by Iraqi forces during the brief struggle will be released and returned to British authorities.

carry iron ore between American ports in the Great Lakes during the current year.

Mr. Roosevelt also signed the post office-treasury supply bill, carrying $1,147,000,000 for regular functions of the two departments during the next fiscal year. In line with efforts to economize on normal expenditures, this appropriation measure was $3,000,000 under that of 1940-41—although $5,000,000 higher than the estimates submitted by the budget bureau.

Approval of the priorities act sealed a victory OPM Director General William S. Knudsen won in congress. As the measure passed this disinvestment of authority, the senate concurred with them and the house retreated from its original position in conference.

The president planned to wind up his holiday at Hyde Park tonight. Tomorrow he will receive John G. Winant, U. S. ambassador in the court of St. James, who flew back from London for consultation and report simultaneously with the chief executive's challenge to Hitlerism involving a declaration of an unlimited emergency.

Winant already has given Mr. Roosevelt a partial report by telephone from New York. Over the week-end, under instructions he received in the course of that conversation, Winant has been preparing a detailed report on Britain's position and needs.

The newest batch of prisoners was taken on a mountain north of Spakia yesterday.

According to the high command German planes also sank a transport vessel northward of the Libyan port of Tobruk.

These mopping up operations gave the Germans complete control of Crete after the Anglo-Greek defenders had been crushed in the greatest air-borne invasion of history.

German authorities hailed the Crete conquest as the greatest defeat Britain has suffered in the war.

FAITH SUCCESS

To be resigned, self-satisfied or contented, will result in cold comfort some hot day. No successful man is satisfied.

The moment a man settles down and is satisfied with the amount of business he is doing, he begins to go backwards. The urge to surpass yesterday and be a bigger, better man today, is always present in the man who forges ahead.

This old world has millions of men stuck in the mud of satisfaction.

McDONALD-BEADLE WEDDING SATURDAY

First Presbyterian church of Youngstown was the scene of a wedding of much interest Saturday afternoon when Miss Caroline McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Travis of Youngstown, and William Oswald Beadle, son of Mrs. Edward W. Beadle of Rhodes Place, this city exchanged their marriage vows at a charming "open church" ceremony.

Dr. Howard D. Talbott read the nuptial service and bestowed the bride blessing at 4 o'clock in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. Travis gave the bride in marriage.

White ceremonial tapers in seven-point candelabra lighted the altar area which was banked with palms and cybotium ferns.

Mrs. John Stanley Miller was matron of honor for her sister, and William H. Alderice was Mr. Beadle's best man. Ushers were Messrs. John Stanley Miller, Fred Paddon, James Beadel of New Castle and Robert Beadel of Glenn Ridge, N. J. Dr. Henry V. Stearns was at the organ and played passages from Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony, also "Estralla" and "Lead Kindly Light," and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson et Delilah. The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin sounded for the processional, and during the ceremony Dr. Stearns played the "Evening Star" romance from Tannhauser.

Miss McDonald was a very lovely bride, wearing a white crepe afternoon dress having a softly ruffled collar appliqued with colored flowers, a becoming white turban with face veil and bridal corsage of white sweet peas and roses.

Mrs. Miller wore a yellow crepe dress with hand knitted angora jacket to match, small yellow straw hat and corsage of yellow daisies and tulle flowers.

After an informal congratulatory period at the church, the bride and bridegroom received with Mr. and Mrs. Travis at a tea and reception at the Travis home on Ottawa Drive.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boley, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beadel, Glenn Ridge, N. J.; Mrs. E. H. Williams, Latrobe, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beadel, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pond, Mrs. Charles Beadel, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Martz and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beadel, Syracuse, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dingley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leslie and Mr. and Mrs. James Beadel, New Castle, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henderson, Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. Myron I. Arms, Franklin, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Beadel will be home at 125 Broadway upon their return from a several weeks' motor trip through the south.

Mrs. Beadel, who has been radio editor of The Vindicator for several years, is a graduate of South high school, Youngstown, and attended Youngstown college. Mr. Beadel is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., and of Syracuse University. He is associated with the McKay Machine Co.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T HELP CHILD BECOME GOSSIP.

Children will gossip about as much as their parents do. You and I hardly realize how much damage to human happiness, mental health and character gossip causes. Nor are we fully aware of the human urges prompting us to gossip—the psychology behind it.

When we gossip we are sure of very eager listeners. We get a sense of self-importance from so much attention to what we say and a feeling of superiority as we say it. Seldom can we elicit such rapt attention from another person when we are praising a third person.

Yet we rarely gossip purposely to do harm. Rather we do it for about the same reason that a dog wags its tail. It makes us feel important.

As a rule, we are tempted to gossip about our relatives, neighbors and people we work with. Dad will talk about the human frailties of his boss; mother, of her club or church associates; child, of his teacher. The teen-age may stoop to gossip about other young people. All this is wasteful, destructive conversation and should be omitted.

Rule For Parents
Let us parents observe the rule that we won't talk about people behind their backs. When others do so in our presence, we shall be silent, except perhaps, to add a word of approbation of the person who was unkindly spoken of.

We should cultivate the habit of speaking kindly of people in their absence. We should, moreover, learn to feel and show enthusiasm when others especially our children, honestly say appreciating things about an absent person. I believe that you and I and our children can do a vast deal of good and enjoy considerable satisfaction from saying and doing kind things.

People are less tempted to gossip when they have wide interests which reach beyond personalities. They talk of persons, things, large events (such as international relations) and ideas. The more ideas they have and the more events beyond food, clothes and shelter they are interested in, the less they gossip.

If you would like to receive a selected list of books on manners for children, youth and their parents, write me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Selecting Parent Problems
Q. Explain a good way to prevent fear of the dentist in the child.

A. Begin going to the dentist as soon as the youngster is about two years old and at regular intervals of six months thereafter. Choose a dentist who will win the child's friendship and cooperation and will not hurry with him. Expect to pay the dentist for the extra time he spends. After the first few visits leave the child with the dentist and, as you return for him, bring him a new toy. You want to help him have pleasant associations with going to the dentist. It can be done. It is being done by some parents and dentists.

Q. Suppose your child reminded you that you indulged in some bad manners for which he had been rebuked?

A. I hope I would be man enough to take it, apologize to him, and promise him to do better in the future.

The World and the Mud Puddles

TIME'S CHANGES

A dozen or so years ago it was an earth-shaking event, when one plane, so small it carried but a single occupant, succeeded in crossing the ocean.

But the revolutionary invention of the airplane has registered a speed of progress in recent years that has been equally revolutionary. Today out of the Douglas Plant in Southern California has just rolled the first of the B-19 bombers, the most formidable winged fortress of destruction yet created by man's skill and imagination. This giant machine is capable of flying 7750 miles non-stop, a distance greater than from California to Europe, and is built to carry a grim cargo of eighteen tons of bombs.

If, within the past few years, the development of the flight range and death-dealing power of aircraft has advanced at so swift a pace, it is reasonable to believe that the near future will bring into being even greater air armadas than we know of today. Already oceans, high mountain chains and wide, rushing rivers have ceased to be the effective barriers that they have been through all time past. Air and air machines have provided earth encircling sky routes which recognize these barriers no longer.

This newest dreadnought of the skies, the B-19, capable of spanning the breadth of the American continent and the Atlantic ocean in a single hop, is one more testimony to aircraft's power in annihilating distance and in destroying the isolation in which nations of an earlier century lived.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:22; sun rises tomorrow 4:33.

A local bird was asked why he always said fair lady when speaking to a girl. He replied: "Force of habit—I used to be a street car conductor."

Kissing is just like quarreling. It takes two to do it and it's apt to get one pretty hot.

Johnny had been very mischievous in school. The teacher said she would drop in and see his father. His mother wrote her promptly: "Dear Teacher: If you can't handle Johnny, you'd better not tackle his father."

A Pittsburgh woman wants a divorce from her husband because he takes better care of his automobile than he does of her. He also smacked her when the other woman was in the car. Wow!

Lady's husband who had a fit, after which he became rigid and unconscious. She sent for a physician. On looking over her husband's condition, he remarked: "Madam, your husband is dead!" At that time the husband came to and called out: "No I am not!" When his wife promptly said: "Shut up; don't the doctor know?"

A local chick told a girl: "I would give $5 for just one kiss from a nice little girl like you." The girl replied: "Oh, how terrible!" He asked if he had offended her. She replied: "No, I was just thinking about the fortune I gave away last night."

In some foreign countries second-hand automobiles are now selling for more than the cost when new. War gets worse all the time.

AN AWFUL YOLK

A well-known editor received the following letter from a not so well-known writer: "In the future, I will have no use for you or your publication. The manuscript I submitted to you recently was sent as a test. Pages 8 and 9 were fastened together at the edges. My story was returned with the pages unopened, which proves that you didn't take the trouble to read the story through." The editor replied: "Dear Madam: When I am served an egg at breakfast, I do not have to eat the whole egg to find out that it is bad!"

Modern doctors look at your teeth first. It's embarrassing to blame them for joint-pains if they are detachable.

Hollywood sent out pictures of a "four-minute kiss." But that isn't a kiss; it's a vulcanizing job.

Eliza, the belle of Birmingham's downtown, on her wedding day received no gift from the bridegroom. But Mose, after the honeymoon, atoned for his negligence by bringing to his bride a wash-tub, a washboard and a hand mirror. As Eliza eyed the strange medley of gifts, Mose said:

"Liza, you can hab yo' choice ob dese presents. Yo' can take dis tub and washbo' an' go to wuk—or take de mirror, an' sit down in de corner an' watch yo'self starve!"

Minister: "My dear lady, I hope I am not mistaken, but I thought I saw you talking during the sermon yesterday." Stray Lamb: "You surely are mistaken. Why, I never talk in my sleep."

One of the meanest questions ever asked us was: "Have you dropped sumpin' on your necktie?"

Woman's deepest and tenderest love is wholly removed from sensual

"My niece, who is a bride, hasn't yet learned the necessity of keeping a perfectly immaculate bathroom. All of the porcelain was stained from the sediment of the water. The wash clothes upon the tub and stand had dried into balls."

"I hate housework . . . am out in the car all day," the girl explained. I did not need a psychiatrist to explain that the disorder of her home was the cause of her desire to escape from it all.

Question: (1) Who gives the wedding dinner—bride's or groom's mother? (2) Where should the bride change her wedding gown to traveling clothes if she lives at the groom's house?—T. Y.

Answer: (1) The bride's family gives the reception and pays for everything connected with it. (2) The bride should change from her wedding gown to traveling clothes wherever the reception is being held. If it is given in a hotel, she usually has her traveling bag with all of her going-away clothes in it brought to the hotel by a member of her family or a friend, unless she prefers to go back to her home and change after the reception.

Question: I am confronted as to what to wear at the christening of my sister's baby.—M. J.

Answer: As it will doubtless take place in the afternoon, wear a street-length afternoon dress.

Question: At my wedding, which will be very small and quiet, I am having only a maid of honor. Should the maid of honor walk alone up the aisle, followed by me on my father's arm—I shall dress as a bride.—C.

Answer: Yes, that is the correct procedure. But why not have two ushers who will lead the procession and make it look more graceful.

MONEY TALKS

A colored minister was baptizing some of his congregation in a river in Baltimore, Md.

Minister: I now baptize you to cleanse you of a sin. Down went the man. And up floats a deck of cards.

Minister: See, my people, his sins coming out by chunks.

He pushed his man down again and up comes a bottle of whiskey.

Hot dog, said the preacher, he is being saved.

Once more he plunged him into the water. This time the man released a ten-dollar bill. It floated to the top. Preacher declared: He is now "SAVED." And kept the ten-spot.

I'm convinced you're the nearest thing to an idiot. "All right—then I'll move away from you."

When a graduate left college, he said: "Goodbye. I am indebted to you for all I know." Dean: "Don't mention such a trifle."

A New York girl, spending her vacation in the country, was complaining to the farmer about the savage way the bull regarded her. "Well," said the farmer, it must be on account of that red blouse you're wearing.

"Dear me," said the girl: "of course I knew it was awful out of fashion, but I had no idea a country bull would notice it."

MAKING HIS POINT
Preacher Jones had never seen so many of his flock in church at one time as appeared on Easter morning. Several were doing their "once a year" and, knowing that many would not be present again for months, Pastor Jones closed his sermon with a bit of a stinger. Said he: "And now my brethren, while I have this opportunity, I would wish you all a very Merry Christmas."

Clerk Miss: "Oh, no, officer, I must have been looking at your pleasant, handsome face!"

There was opposition to a proposed bill before the Pennsylvania legislature to provide for full weight when coal is sold. It wasn't by people who bought coal, however.

The saying that chorus girls have a hard time is true. They have to bare a great deal.

When a local woman's husband told her they were invited to spend a week-end at a nudist colony, she said it was impossible, as she hadn't a dress that was fit to wear.

She: "I want to see the captain of this ship."

Sailor: "He's forward miss."

She: "I don't care. I'm not afraid men."

Press Censorship Causes Discussion
World War Head Opposed To Proposal
Radio And Cable Curb Offered Instead

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 2.—George Creel favors a wartime censorship of cables, but, as a newspaperman, he opposes a press censorship. George ran our Committee on Public Information, the so-called Compub while the United States was in the last World War, and I myself represented the Compub as its disseminator of news to South American publications, with headquarters in Buenos Aires. Consequently, I know pretty well what George's policy was.

It's true that his effort was rather to get pro-Yankee stuff into print than in the direction of suppression. South American editors quickly recognized that he wasn't trying to muzzle them. Hence they not only didn't resent his activities. They outright appreciate his service, asked for it and published it ad lib. The Compub was alright.

I don't particularly quarrel with a cable censorship, either. It's a nuisance, which can be carried to ridiculous extremes, as it was during the 1914-1918 period. I had experience with that, too, for I was a Yankee correspondent in London, and, off and on, on the West Front, before we entered the earlier conflict. It always made me sore to have a dumb-headed censor ditch a perfectly harmless dispatch that I'd filed. Still, I can see that a certain amount of discretion, relative to international communication, may be necessary in such an emergency.

Radio Censorship

George also supports a radio censorship. I begin to get a bit sensitive on that subject. The suggestion hints at an abridgement of the right of free speech. My notion is that a citizen's entitled to shoot off his mouth about as he pleases, and it's a privilege that certainly is qualified if he's told that he can't do it if he happens to be standing in front of a mike.

Of course, it's arguable that there isn't much use in putting a hush on cables if the same information can be transmitted just as well by wireless. It wasn't much of problem during the last war. The Allies severed Germany's cable connections at an early stage of the game and the wireless wasn't dependable enough to signify materially. For a few months after that, lookouts started, before I was dispatched to Europe and then South America. I was a foreign news editor in New York. I got reams of wireless copy from German sources (their cable being cut) and it was seldom that I could sort out an intelligible sentence. Now it's entirely different.

On the whole, I agree with George Creel. Censor the cables if we must. I'm not a radio broadcaster, so I'm concerned as to those broadcasters' fate only in an academic way. But, as a newspaperman, I'd be prepared to holler my head off at press restrictions—except as to libel and a little stuff like that.

However, there's an evident tendency toward a similar censorship of the press itself. The superficial chat in advocacy of organization of another Compub, like George Creel's—just informative, or even propagandistic, if you care to call it so. But the undercurrent in Washington is to smother news that authority believes ought to be kept corked up.

The American Position

WASHINGTON, June 2. ALTHOUGH the President disturbingly gave the impression at his special press conference that his deeds would not measure up to his words, and himself took a good deal of force out of his speech, repercussions from it continue to overshadow everything else. So far as this country is concerned, commendation for outwitted criticism. In England, of course, there is but one opinion. And, if you verse the opinion that is true of Germany and Italy too.

ONE feature of the speech generally praised was its restraint. Certainly it differed from most of Mr. Roosevelt's former utterances. The absence of invective and of theatrical phrases was conspicuous and complete. There was no trace, either, of his customary demagoguery. Of course, it is bound to be pointed out that the foreign policy which he now enunciates could be supported far more effectively had his defense effort been more soundly conceived and if it were more competently operated. But that does not detract from the fact that the speech, coupled with the proclamation, has pushed us into a new period in which the power of the President is greatly enhanced and that of Congress correspondingly diminished.

FROM now on the latter will have little or nothing to say about foreign affairs. It, of course, is still the only agency which can declare war, but with the unlimited authority which an unlimited emergency confers upon the President, we very easily may be in the war shooting it out with the enemy on the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, while Congress gets the news from the newspapers. Then the declaration would be automatic and not mean a great deal. Congress will enact a tax bill, and it may—though that is not likely—pare down some of the normal governmental costs. But it is difficult to see what else it can do. Already the billions that the President proposes have been appropriated, and the legislative branch is in no position to resist whatever further request for money he may make.

ONCE started in the direction we are now headed, we cannot stop. Because he menaces our own security, we are now out to beat Hitler at any cost. With that as the goal, to hesitate or equivocate would be worse than foolish—it would be fatal. It, therefore, can be accepted that Congress will interpose no obstacle to the full implementation of the President's foreign policy, though it has had nothing to do with its formation. The general disposition in Congress—and in the country—is to accept the fact that the decision has been made and our progress toward war greatly accelerated. BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopedia Britannica)

JUNE 2

1773—John Randolph, statesman and orator, at Cawsons, Va. He was a descendant of Pocahontas and a member of the House of Representatives for more than 25 years. He also served one term in the Senate. He was the foremost of the great jurists which indicted Aaron Burr for treason.

1815—Philip Kearney, cavalry officer of the Mexican War and a divisional commander in the Union army, at New York City. After repulsing an attack at Chancellorsville, 1862, General Kearney rode too far toward the front at night and was killed by Confederate pickets. His body was sent to the Union line with a message from General Lee.

1845—Arthur MacArthur, major-general, U. S. army, at Springfield, Mass. He entered the Civil War as a lieutenant and became a colonel at the age of 20. He was commissioned a brigadier-general of volunteers in 1898 and sent to the Philippine Islands. He was made a major-general of the regular army in 1901.

Hints On Etiquette

The phrase, "request the honor of your presence," must appear in the invitation to a church wedding; "pleasure of your company" is used only for home weddings.

Words Of Wisdom

True politeness requires humility, good sense, and benevolence. To think much highly of ourselves is to be proud. To think too much of ourselves is to be conceited. To think too little of ourselves is to be humble. To think too much of others is to be generous. To think too little of others is to be selfish. To think too much of the future is to be anxious. To think too little of the future is to be careless. To think too much of the past is to be nostalgic. To think too little of the past is to be forgetful. To think too much of the present is to be content. To think too little of the present is to be discontent.

that Mr. Roosevelt has made our entrance inevitable, but that he has done this with great skill.

FOR example, he has recognized that no President must seem to desire to lead this nation into war and has emphasized that we will fight only if attacked—or to prevent attack. Yet, if he lives up to what he has said, he has made the attack inevitable. He has declared that the $7,000,000,000 worth of guns, shells, bombs, aeroplanes and food "must and shall be delivered." He has declared, further, that we will take whatever steps are necessary to see that delivery is made. This goes beyond convoys and beyond patrols. It promises full protection for the cargo ships which soon, in vast volume, will be taking over the products of our factories and farms.

IF Mr. Roosevelt makes good on that, consider the position of the Germans. If they permit, unchecked, this full volume of American supplies to reach the British, then they are licked. It will be only a matter of time before the British will have supremacy in the air, and with air supremacy victory is assured. Once the British sweep the Germans from the air, the Hitler game is up. That seems beyond dispute and it also seems to leave the Germans no choice. They have got to prevent the American supplies from being delivered or lose the war. They have got to block the steps we take to "insure delivery." And when they try that, we are attacked—and in the war. That is the way the experts here interpret the new American position. It seems a reasonable interpretation.

paperman and an old personal friend of mine, is the chap most frequently suggested to handle the job. He denies that a real censorship is what's aimed at, and I presume, from what I know of him (and that's a lot), that he's sincere. But there are others.

Knox's View
Navy Secretary Frank Knox is a newspaperman also—publisher of the Chicago Daily News when he isn't on leave of absence, as he is now, in charge of our sea forces. Frank's scheme is what he refers to as a "voluntary censorship." That is, our newspapers are to censorize themselves. But who's to be the final judge of the competency with which they do it? It seems as if the task would require an official administrator. And what will he be? A chief censor or what?

Publisher Arthur Hays Sulzberger of the New York Times is a newspaperman likewise. "I believe," he says, "that we can have military censorship and still preserve a large measure of our freedom."

A large measure of it—huh! But not ALL?

And there's a distinction between what Frank Knox said and what Arthur Sulzberger said.

Frank proposed a VOLUNTARY censorship—the newspapers to impose it on themselves. Art mentions a MILITARY censorship—with an army or navy officer sitting alongside the editor, telling him what he can and can't print? I've been an editor myself. I wouldn't have liked that.

The present condition of our streets renders it almost impossible for pedestrians to navigate them. The last rain and warm weather have produced any quantity of mud, which admonishes our citizens that a move should be made to have our principal streets paved, or planked, which should not only make it pleasant and comfortable during wet season; but would prevent much of the dust we are troubled with during the summer. The cost would be but a trifle when compared with the advantage it would be to our business community, and the advancement of our town.

We do not believe that there is another town in western Pennsylvania possessing the business facilities that New Castle enjoys, but what have their streets in better condition. Let a move be made in this matter, and in the meanwhile would it not be advisable for councilors to have cinder walks made at the principal crossings? And would it not also be a pious idea to have cinder walks made to the different churches?

The water has been let into the canal between Erie and Beaver, and navigation has commenced under the most favorable auspices. The splendid line of Express Packets, owned by R. G. Parks, commenced their regular trip on Tuesday last.

May 25, 1850.

The commissioners authorized by law, to construct a plank road from New Castle to New Wilmington in this county, advertise that Books will be opened in Wilmington and in this place, on the 20th of June next, for the purpose of receiving subscription to the stock of said company.

February 15, 1851.

The present condition of our streets renders it almost impossible for pedestrians to navigate them. The last rain and warm weather have produced any quantity of mud, which admonishes our citizens that a move should be made to have our principal streets paved, or planked, which should not only make it pleasant and comfortable during wet season; but would prevent much of the dust we are troubled with during the summer. The cost would be but a trifle when compared with the advantage it would be to our business community, and the advancement of our town.

We do not believe that there is another town in western Pennsylvania possessing the business facilities that New Castle enjoys, but what have their streets in better condition. Let a move be made in this matter, and in the meanwhile would it not be advisable for councilors to have cinder walks made at the principal crossings? And would it not also be a pious idea to have cinder walks made to the different churches?

NEW CASTLE PACKETS

For the information of the people north of New Castle we can state that there is a regular daily line of canal packets from this place to Rochester, connecting with the morning steamers for Pittsburgh. The boats are handsomely and comfortably fitted up for the accommodation of the traveling public. The Eclipse, Capt. J. B. Gould, is entirely new, in the most modern style for passengers; and shippers can rely upon having freight sent through with unprecedented dispatch. She leaves New Castle every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 6 o'clock, P.M., returning leaves Rochester for New Castle every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, on arrival of the afternoon boat from Pittsburgh.

The other boat is the Lake Erie, which is exclusively arranged for the accommodation of passengers—she leaves New Castle, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock, P.M., returning leaves Rochester on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6 o'clock, P.M. These boats are commanded by the most obliging and accommodating officers, Capt. Blake and Gould, they are well known to the traveling public and we trust these boats will continue to receive the liberal share of patronage that has already been extended to them this season.

(Our next installment will give a contemporary picture of the county seat as it appeared in 1850.)

As our debt grows, and politicians still pass out public money to hold their jobs, let's hope there is no shortage of tar.

WANTED: FOLKS WHO NEED LOANS TO READ ABOUT THIS PLAN

—Rates are not the same at all loan companies—
Here are facts and figures to help you shop for your loan.
—Read how you can borrow $20 to $300

HAVE you a money problem which a personal loan will help you solve? Here is a simple way to borrow without endorers or guarantors—and at rates substantially below the lawful maximum. If you have a job and can make monthly payments you are invited to come in and see us about getting a loan up to $300.

But we attach far more importance to character and regular income than to the value of security. It is unnecessary to ask outsiders to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Get your loan for less

The payments in the table include all charges. These charges are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge a substantially higher rate than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. We publish our payments and rate of charge so that you may compare costs before you borrow.

Phone or visit us for full information without obligation.

SCENE OF LATEST SECRET MEETING

questions of where the Nazis would strike next. Would it be Cyprus, Alexandria, Suez or Gibraltar?

The Nazi radio, jubilantly announcing the mopping up of Crete to the Germans dropped a sinister hint. Its bulletin clearly pointed to the possibility that the rapidity of the 12-day conquest of Crete indicated the vulnerability of England itself to such a type of air-borne invasion.

"The outcome of the battle in Crete will spur and expedite ever greater decisions," the German radio warned.

Italy meanwhile was suffering some unpleasant difficulties over the shortages of food, grain, fodder and cereals. One Italian newspaper called for the death penalty for food speculators. All existing supplies of grain, cereals and fodder were requisitioned. An agreement was signed with Switzerland for food imports.

Final Liquidation Plan?

Rome, June 2. — Reichsleiter Adolf Hitler came to the Brenner Pass today and presented Premier Mussolini a plan for "final liquidation" of the British empire reported to include active French collaboration against England and a Russian agreement to feed and fuel the Axis military machine.

In the sudden and unexpected meeting, Hitler was understood to have asked Mussolini to "make sacrifices" in his territorial demands upon France in exchange for outright French cooperation in a manner said to promise speedy defeat of Britain.

A sweeping program involving Syria and the eastern Mediterranean opening a "clear path" to Suez also was reported presented by the Fuehrer.

Informed quarters in Rome emphasized that all previous meetings between the two dictators preceded specific, large-scale Axis action against Great Britain.

Therefore, they said, it was inevitable that Hitler and Mussolini considered the next step to be taken in smashing the British empire.

If he can hug girls publicly without offense, he is old. If he thinks they don't object, and they do, he doesn't look as old as he feels.

MUCH CONJECTURE CAUSED IN U. S. BY WINANT'S RETURN

tations. Over the holiday week-end, Sen. Wheeler D. Mont., leader of the senate non-interventionists, called on the president "to take the people into your confidence and inform them of the German peace terms." Wheeler declined to amplify his appeal but indicated it was based upon some knowledge of a German Peace offer.

Winant, who returned by clipper to New York Friday, rested over the week-end before a scheduled conference with the president at the White House tomorrow. Winant's delay in talking to the president might be construed as indicating his information is relatively unimportant but friends of Mr. Roosevelt argued that this conclusion was inaccurate because the president actually desired rest from official cares while in Hyde Park over the week-end.

There are many other matters, besides a peace offer, on which Winant can and undoubtedly will report to the president. One would be the British plans for defending the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal after loss of Crete, which the Germans can use as an air base to bomb Alexandria, 350 miles away, and the canal, 450 miles to the southeast.

And Winant undoubtedly will report on British military shipping and food requirements. One current rumor has it that the British must be given 10 times as much military equipment as has been going overseas if Britain is to successfully resist Germany. Another current report is that Britain needs food supplies in large quantities. This was indicated by the government order, cancelling issuance of butter to American relief enrollees in order to increase butter shipments to the British.

Peace Rumor Center of Interest

But greater interest centers on the rumor that Winant has brought back German peace terms. There are some signs pointing to this possibility. Late in April, a Tokyo newspaper published a purported German peace offer which would strip Britain of all influence in Europe and the Mediterranean while leaving her navy and dominions intact. Only last week, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced British war aims and it is possible he did so to anticipate publication of German peace conditions.

British silence about Hess lends credence to the possibility that the Nazi took peace terms to Scotland. Shortly after his capture, Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced he would promptly inform the British house of commons on all phases of the Hess affairs. Twice afterwards, Churchill postponed his report and to date has never made it. If Hess did bring peace terms, this would explain Churchill's silence.

Report Ireland Plans To Accept Roosevelt's Offer

Half Million Dollars Worth Of Food To Be Sent To Ireland By U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—An unimpeachable Washington source today disclosed that Elre has decided to accept President Roosevelt's offer of $500,000 worth of food to help feed the civilian population of Ireland, including thousands of refugees who have fled there from the war-torn countries of Europe.

Irish Minister Robert Brennan will notify Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles of the Elre government's decision late this afternoon.

Elre also will accept the president's offer to charter two merchant ships to transport food to Ireland as well as other food supplies which the Irish government will purchase in this country with its own funds.

Brennan is expected to express his government's disappointment at the refusal of the United States to permit Elre to obtain defense materials in this country also.

The American government made it clear recently that it had no defense materials to spare for those countries which are not actively engaged resisting aggression.

Miss Mary Louise Kikpatrick, presiding over the keyboard of the Cathedral organ, opened the baccalaureate with a short oration recital.

Not long before 8 the class began to file solemnly in, marching single file to the strains of Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests" from "Athaliah." Principal Frank L. Orth was at the head of the long line.

Dr. Senior Chairman

Once the senior host was seated, the service began. Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green, the chairman, introduced the Senior high school's A Capella choir, which sang the "Call to Worship." Dr. Bennett then gave the invocation.

The choir sang again, "We Have No Other Guide," and then the scripture was read.

Then a member of the choral group, Roy McClendon, sang a solo, "Father in Heaven."

Dr. Bennett's prayer came next, then the congregation sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and Dr. McIlvaine's sermon followed.

The choir sang "Incline Thine Ear" after the speaker had finished, and then Dr. Bennett's benediction closed the program. The audience remained seated while the class filed out.

On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SUMMER CAMPS OFFERING BOTH WORK AND PLAY RECOMMENDED TO PARENTS

This is the time when many parents are giving attention to summer camps for their children, and I wish to suggest that they consider camps which provide work as well as recreation.

Work is an acquired habit and children need to learn to work just as they must learn to read and write, and one is just as vital a part of their education as the other, but the former is being neglected in a great many homes.

Many schools are trying to remedy this, and an increasing number of summer camps are recognizing the need for a combined work-play program. They have taken over farms or handicraft shops, or have arranged for children to have most of the service jobs or attend to the daily chores around the camp. Some provide working scholarships, while others require the work as part of the camp fee.

With so many men having been called into the army or attracted into war industries, there are opportunities open to older youths in many parts of the country to enjoy a summer on a farm and get paid for it. I know of one New York high school that is arranging to place its students as workers on farms and is encouraging them to take the jobs for the experience and the recreational opportunities.

A great many parents do not intend to rear their children to be lazy, irresponsible wastrels and parasites, but they do, because they fail to make workers of them. Some, who live in modern homes with so many conveniences, find it hard to provide daily chores for the children that will develop responsibility, dependability and thoroughness; or they are impatient instructors who'd rather do the job themselves than watch Johnny make a mess of it.

Others have the proud and foolish idea that if their children have to do any work that it is somehow a reflection on them, and they deliberately encourage the children in shiftlessness.

The Dionne Quintuplets have a rather large amount of money put away for them, but we are seeing that they learn to work. For we want them to be able to take care of themselves, and we want them to have the self-confidence and sense of responsibility that the working habit gives growing children.

Physical laziness is usually accompanied by mental laziness. So the child allowed to grow up without learning how to work is often also a poor scholar. For this his parents blame his teachers, and they probably shift him from one school to another. When they finally squeeze him through a graduation they have to find a job for him, and perhaps two or three jobs for him, with an employer to whom he is of little use until he learns how to work—something he should have learned in childhood.

Learning to take care of himself and to work is easier for a child in a camp than at home, because his supervisors deal with him in a more detached way than his parents do. They will place his work on a competitive basis, like sport. As one of 50 or 100 in a group of his own age, there is more incentive to him to learn things that will make him want to excel and stand out as an individual. He will be under pressure not to appear as a weakling or an incompetent. And wise camp supervisors will see to it that he is not overworked and is given a chance to excel in something.

Tomorrow: Some hints about choosing summer camps for your children.

Four Major Problems Still Face Legislature

Sixth Month Of Session Starting

Taxation, Relief Funds, Governmental Operation, Funds And Apportionment Problems

TEMPORARY BILLS BEING CONSIDERED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 2.—The General Assembly opened its sixth month of deliberations today, prepared to adjourn sine die as soon as it clears its calendars of four major problems, taxation, the appropriation of funds for relief and other governmental functions and congressional reapportionment.

The legislature returned from a holiday weekend recess to find the entire state government, including itself and the courts, without the legal power to spend a single cent, pending the approval of the $188,000,000 general appropriations bill.

Under the law all appropriations automatically lapsed last Saturday night, when the 1939-41 biennium ended, and no funds are available for governmental functions except for the $6,253,000 appropriated for June relief by the legislature before it recessed Thursday.

Failure To Pass Budget
The unusual situation of one of the wealthiest states in the union operating without funds arises from the failure of the Democratic house and Republican senate to reach an agreement on the $542,000,000 biennial budget presented by Gov. Arthur H. James. The Democratic house passed a revised budget, including two tax cuts and increased appropriations, which the senate so far has refused to approve on the grounds that it is $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 out of balance.

In order to forestall any delay in the payment of salaries due some 20,000 employees on June 13, the administration has introduced a $2,000,000 temporary appropriation bill which is now in the process of being enacted.

Pending the approval of this stop-gap appropriation, which can also be utilized for other than salary payments, the state will have to conduct its business on a credit basis. It was pointed out, however, that two weeks normally elapses before vouchers are put through for purchases and by that time temporary funds will be available.

Three-Way-Crash Injures Eleven

Accident Not Far From Irwin Entrance To Turnpike Sends Four To Hospital

(International News Service)
IRWIN, Pa., June 2.—A three-way accident on Route 30, not far from the Irwin entrance to the Pennsylvania Turnpike, left four persons in Greensburg hospital today while seven others nursed minor injuries.

Reported in serious condition in the hospital were: Mrs. Susan Kessler, of Lansdowne, Pa.; Charles Galleher, Akron, O.; Dale Kline, Akron, and Walter A. Zimmerman, Akron.

The other, less seriously hurt, were: Fred Kessler, driver of one car and husband of Mrs. Kessler; their sons, Carl and Walter; Elizabeth Beardon, of Easton, Md.; Paul Borjajian, Akron; John W. Tanzy, Akron, and Molly E. Tribby, Coraopolis, Pa.

State police said the Kline and Kessler cars crashed while both were heading east and that the two machines hit the third car operated by Miss Beardon. The accident brought to 15 the number of persons injured in the vicinity of the Turnpike tollgate yesterday.

On Thursday, two Toledo, O. men were killed in another accident in the same vicinity.

Dr. Harry N. Holmes To Come Back To Campus After Years Of Success

NEW WILMINGTON, June 2.—When Dr. Harry N. Holmes, president of the American Chemical society, returns to the Westminster college campus, Monday, June 9, to deliver the 87th commencement address, it will be another chapter in the story of "local boy makes good."

For Harry Holmes walked back and forth from a little farm in Fayetteville, two miles from the Westminster campus, for four years, 1895 to 1899, to pry into the mystery of the test-tube and the microscope. At first disinterested in science, young Holmes decided in his junior year that the mastery of science, and nothing else in the world, would give him what he wanted of life.

So, when he graduated from Westminster in 1899, he went on to receive a doctor's degree from Johns-Hopkins university. After teaching several years at Earlham college, a small Quaker school in Indiana, Dr. Holmes moved on in 1917 to the headship of the department of chemistry at Oberlin college, where he was to number among his students such future outstanding men as President Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago; O. O. MacIntyre, originator and popularizer of the so-called "New York Column"; Thornton Wilder, novelist and playwright; and Bayne-Jones, one-time dean of the Yale medical school.

Dr. Holmes has lectured in many European universities; has written over 50 research papers in the fields of chemistry and medicine; and is the author of eight textbooks and laboratory manuals in chemistry. In addition to teaching and writing, Dr. Holmes finds time for flower-er-gardening, golf, theatre-going, and studying specimens of hand-writing.

Only once before, in its history, has the American Chemical society, representing almost 50,000 chemists, chosen a college professor as its head.

In the audience at Westminster's commencement June 9 will be a man who will feel more of a thrill than anyone else as Dr. Holmes delivers his commencement address. That man is Dr. Charles Freeman, retired Westminster chemistry teacher after almost 30 years of service, who taught undergraduate chemistry once to a young farm-lad, Harry Holmes.

of the army; he must have some capacity for music; he must be recommended by army officers.

The life of an army student is somewhat circumscribed with regard to marriage, strictly in the use of tobacco and intoxicants. At present, an effort is being made to raise the scholarship requirements of entrants. The student understands beforehand that his is to be a life of sacrifice, that his salary will be small, that part of it is to be paid into a pension fund and part of it returned in the form of contributions to the cause. He pledges himself to a work-day of at least nine hours and to a minimum of 18 hours per week in visitation.

The curriculum covers Bible, social service, public speaking, first aid, field organization and several others. Band and choral work occupy a prominent place. The training is largely for the purpose of equipping the student to carry on various activities with which the corps officer will be concerned. The fundamental objectives at all times are the religious.

Congressman Charges $250,000,000 Of Barracks Construction Funds Wasted

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Declaring that $250,000,000 of the first $800,000,000 spent for new army barracks was wasted, Rep. Engel (D-Mich.) today demanded that the army abolish its cost plus fixed fee system and resort to competitive bids.

The Michigan member, who voluntarily made himself a one-man investigating committee and spent weeks studying army construction, cited construction of Camp Dix, N. J., to support his demand.

Camp Dix, he said, was constructed under a contract let after competitive bids were submitted. And he asserted, it was the cheapest camp constructed of four eastern camps.

The cost of a 63-man barracks at Camp Dix, he said, was $9,822. This he added, compared to a cost of $15,000 at camps Devens and Edwards, Mass., and $17,364 at Camp Meade, Md.

While competitive bids were used for the Camp Dix project, the others were constructed on a cost plus a fixed fee basis, he said. At Camp Dix, he said, the contractor paid higher wages than at other camps where the fixed fee system was used.

Because the Camp Dix contractor had to figure profit out of his bid, Engel continued, he used fewer workmen and paid less overtime

Nevertheless, he added, Camp Dix was constructed faster than the other camps.

"Every contractor recognizes the fact that when you employ more men than the job warrants it means inefficiency and delay," Engel said. "At Camp Dix where the cost of inefficiency came out of the contractor because of the competitive bid, they had 5,655 men employed at the peak of the job. At Camp Meade they had 19,990 men employed, at Devens 14,439 and at Edwards 18,343."

As a result of his investigation, Engel said, he is convinced that the army wasted 30 per cent of the cost of building camps for the new draft army and national guard.

"I base this first upon the excessive cost brought about because of the cost plus fixed fee method of letting jobs," said Engel. "We had areas and grounds where 4,000,000 men were trained during the world war. There is no reason why we should not have had plans as to most of those sites."

"We actually had blueprints and plans as far back as 1938 for every building erected at Camp Dix. There is no reason why we could not have let the construction of cantonment buildings at other camps on a competitive basis in the same way as we let contracts at Camp Dix."

Engel protested against the army allowing 11 per cent overhead cost for each camp. He declared that the amount is excessive.

Conference Held In Italian Church

Dr. W. E. Bartlett Of Grove City In Charge Of Meeting; Reports Given

Dr. William E. Bartlett of Grove City, district superintendent, was in New Castle on Sunday to conduct the fourth quarterly conference meeting at the Italian Methodist church. Dr. Bartlett delivered an inspirational address on "Witnessing Church."

The church pastor, Rev. Francesco P. Sulmonetti, stated in his annual report that the three years as pastor here have been the best in his ministry. Not only over $3,000 has been spent in improving the property and all ministerial support and benevolence paid, but 62 members have joined the church. A campaign is now on to raise $1,000 for a new heating system and over $300 has already been raised by the pastor.

Dr. Bartlett praised the splendid achievement by the pastor and his associates, and heartily endorsed the appeal which will be made to Christian and patriotic friends for financial assistance.

The pastor in his report ridiculed the idea of those defeatists in the church and out who are saying that the gospel has made slow progress in foreign and home mission fields.

Other reports given were those of the charge lay leader and local preacher by Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti, the treasurer's annual summary by Domenico Sylvester, the Women's Society of Christian Service by Mrs. Louis Fusco, and the church school by the pastor.

Estimate Loss In Jersey City Fire At $25,000,000

No Indication Of Sabotage Or Arson Is Report After Extensive Blaze

(International News Service) JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 2.—Fire Chief Frank Erie today officially estimated the damage from Saturday night's disastrous blaze on Jersey City's waterfront, the worst fire in the city's history, at $25,000,000.

Chief Erie, after an examination of the 35 acres of burned out granaries, warehouses, stockyards, piers, packing houses, and railroad property, said there was no indication of sabotage or arson.

The theory that sabotage was not involved was further substantiated by Director of Public Safety Daniel Casey and Police Chief Harold Walsh. Four Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, searching the six-block charred area, refused comment.

At an early hour this morning, the fire was still smoldering, and firemen estimated that it will burn for at least a week. Fireboat crews continued to pour tons of water on the half-gutted and still burning Midhudson warehouse.

Rubber, oil and food supplies were the principal items destroyed along the docks, officials said. Most of the material, according to warehouse lessees, were imports, and only a small percentage was goods for export to England.

Amishman Fails To Answer Call For Army Duty

(International News Service) LANCASTER, Pa., June 2.—Reuben King, 22-year-old Amishman, worked on his 145-acre Lancaster county farm today apparently undisturbed by the prospect of arrest for failing to report for induction into the army. He was ordered taken into custody by Assistant U. S. District Attorney E. A. Kallick, Philadelphia.

"They'll have to come and get me," said King who asked his local board for deferment on religious grounds. Board members, however, contend that King has not attended church regularly.

King is a member of the Amish sect which is opposed to bearing arms.

"If the army wants me, let them come and get me," said King. "I want to stay here and farm; I don't want to go into the army or away to camp."

He said a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had visited him, but that he hasn't heard anything since.

News Briefs From City Hall

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander today stated to council he had made arrangements to cover with insurance the buildings on the Greer mill site. The action was approved by colleagues during council meeting held in the municipal building.

George Herring, Edward Kovach, Joseph Yackowitz and Thomas Piller, today subscribed to the policeman's oath. They were appointed temporarily by council upon recommendation of Mayor Charles B. Mayne, this being necessary because of regular police embarking upon vacations.

One of the features of the temporary appointment of police today is the ability of the temporary men to speak foreign languages, which at this particular time will be a big benefit to the police department. Police here are able to speak almost every language except Chinese and Japanese.

J. S. Sroda today was issued a construction permit for a one-story concrete building for service station purposes at State and Grant street at an estimated cost of $3,200.

Lester Shaffer reported to city police his car struck a pole at Highland avenue and Laurel avenue last night.

Police records today contained a report that a man was seen on top of a house on the night of May 26 in Beckford street. His description as height and weight, was given to police.

Thomas Dailey, 16, of 513 East Moody avenue, reportedly has been missing from home since May 31.

See Some Hope For Settlement Of Defense Strikes

Shipyards Machinists' Strike At Fourth Week

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The nation's most critical defense strike, that of 1,700 American Federation of Labor and C. I. O. machinists at 11 San Francisco bay region shipyards, moved into its fourth week today with hopes of a speedy settlement concentrated on two developments.

1. Contract negotiations between the plant Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and the Bay City Metal Trades Council, which began last week, were reported close to a settlement. If signed, some 5,000 A. F. of L. metal craftsmen, with the exception of machinists, will return to work on $294,000,000 worth of navy destroyers and cruisers by mid-week.

2. A. F. of L. and C. I. O. machinists will vote Wednesday night on returning to work in compliance with President Roosevelt's full emergency proclamation. The membership received an individual appeal from the Senate committee investigating defense matters urging abandonment of the tieup.

Picket lines of the machinists have prevented 15,000 non-striking shipyard workers of affiliated unions from working on some $605,000,000 in warship and mercantile vessel contracts since May 12. The strikers demand $1.15 an hour instead of $1.12 and double overtime pay instead of time and one-half as provided by the Pacific coast master agreement between employers and shipyard workers.

Bethlehem has objected to the union shop provisions of the master agreement—an objection that became a major stumbling block to agreement, according to metal trades leaders.

The growing vigor of a return-to-work movement among non-striking skilled workers led officials of Moore Drydock Company of Oakland and General Engineering Company of Alameda to predict their yards would be functioning at virtually full strength today with all crafts but machinists reporting.

Marble Tourney Makes Progress

Saturday's Elimination Winners In City Tournament Are Announced

Old Jupiter Pluvius, who pokes his way into a lot of things, did some first-class annoying Saturday afternoon when New Castle's ace marble shooters gathered in Gaston park for the final play-offs of the city marbles tournament.

But before he wrecked all plans, winners of the first bracket had been decided.

Winning Saturday's elimination and now qualified to meet second bracket winners were Phillip Conti of Lincoln-Garfield school and Ray Crum of Oak street school. They were the youngest participants Saturday.

Only 12 boys out of an eligible 32 completed Saturday, and the second bracket play-off will come shortly. Then Conti and Crum will oppose the top winners in that bracket.

Tex Richards was the tournament judge. The play-offs were members of The Townsman, the young men's organization sponsoring the tournament, and WPA recreational supervisors.

Saturday's runners-up were James Elias, (Lincoln-Garfield) and Fred Rete (George Washington) and they gave the winners stiff competition.

Contest Judge Richards' helpers were Carmen Natale, James Cardella, Carl Glinochi and Alonzo Davidson.

The city winner will go to Hershey, Pa. for district finals.

Auto Horn Tooting Will Be Penalized

Ordinance Being Considered By Council To Halt Unnecessary Horn Blowing

Automobile operators who sound their horn while the car is not in operation or who toot the horn unnecessarily are bound to collide with trouble introduced by a proposed ordinance introduced by Councilman J. L. Fink in city council meeting today in the municipal building. The bill was sent to committee for consideration.

The bill was prepared by Solicitor Robert White. The council committee will decide in committee upon the minimum fine for violation. The measure states that it shall be illegal to sound the horn when the car is not in motion and, illegal to sound the horn, when it is not necessary for the safe operation of the auto.

Solicitor White accompanied the draft with a letter stating that "for the more effective enforcement of this ordinance the mayor is hereby authorized to appoint from time to time, as he shall deem expedient, one or more temporary policemen retired on pension. Their rate of pay remains to be designated."

White suggested that the money collected in fines be kept by police officials in a separate fund which will determine if the fines collected cover the cost of enforcement.

Several days ago horn blowing was so frequent and loud city council could not transact business in the city hall and, from time to time, Mayor Charles B. Mayne has, as superintendent of police, acted personally to stop what he termed the unnecessary sounding of horns.

His Honor has at all times declared that horns were put in for safety rather than musical or nuisance purposes and has pointed out that in some countries, Sweden, for instance, there are hornless automobiles.

Police has been to different sections to try and apprehend persons who in the early hours of morning drew their cars up to houses and signalled by tooting their horns. This affected the sleep of nearby residents.

The mayor also has criticised autoists, who caught in congested traffic, have played a "toot-a-toot" with their horns.

June Grand Jury Session Is Open At Court House

June term of the Lawrence county grand jury opened today in the Lawrence county court house with 7 of the 24 grand jurors excused from duty. James P. Marshall, a salesman of the first ward, New Castle, was named foreman by Judge W. Walter Abraham and following the instructions to the jury they started consideration of the bills of indictment.

The jurors excused were Hilda Arnold, housekeeper, Little Beaver township; Jessie Bobbino, clerk, eighth ward; Jessie E. Brown, laborer, Scott township; Harry Galbraith, painter, fourth ward; Eunice Johnston, housekeeper, New Wilmington; Thomas J. Spiers, retired, and Leroy Taylor, merchant, second ward.

The number of bills of indictment to be considered is small and pleas today reduced the number still further.

Conn Will Sign For Louis Bout

Billy Conn Arrives In New York Accompanied By His Manager Johnny Ray

RAY HAS HAD COLORFUL CAREER

By JACK MAHON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 2.—Billy Conn arrives today to sign contracts for a bout with Joe Louis—the most important fight of his life—and the little guy will be with him.

This is not exactly front page news but the story of Billy Conn and the little guy is really front page in what has been called the book of life. It's the story of a man and a boy; a tale of a hard-boiled little guy named Johnny Ray and a good-looking kid who the little guy hopes to make world's heavyweight champion.

You see Billy Conn "must" be everything the little guy "might have been."

Plenty Of Tricks

Come back over the years. It's 1915. The world is teetering on the brink of madness just as it is today. A Pittsburgh fighter named Johnny Ray was coming along very well in the featherweight division. He was a fancy sort of a guy with no punch to speak of but plenty of tricks.

He was only a little guy but he was fast and cute and he fought some of the best known names of his day. Fellows like George (K. O.) Chanev, K. O. Charlie White, Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Dundee. He won and he lost but that made no difference to the little guy. All he was interested in was in getting that cash and seeing how quick he could get rid of it.

A born gambler, the little guy went completely haywire. He bet on horses; on fights and on baseball games. Once, after the last bell sounded in an afternoon fight with Dundee, Ray took a look at the scoreboard at Forbes field, Pittsburgh. Just as the news went up that the Pirates had won. He leaped over the ropes and raced to his dressing room. It seems he had a bet on the game—and couldn't be bothered waiting for the decision!

CONN AT POMPTON LAKES

Billy Conn has selected Pompton Lakes, N. J., as the site for his training camp. Conn starts training today for his heavyweight championship bout with Joe Louis, 18, in the Polo Grounds.

At The Arena Tonight

Now is the time to learn to Roller Skate, and remember—The Arena has accommodations for beginners. Don't Delay—Come Tonight!

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Billy Conn, heavyweight title contender, has left Pittsburgh for Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he will train for the encounter with Champion Joe Louis. Charley Burley and Ossie Harris, negro middleweights, battle tonight in a bout scheduled to go 10 rounds in Pittsburgh. Kay Welch of Coraopolis and Bernard Mathieson of Beaver Falls won the women's singles and junior singles, respectively, in the Allegheny county hard court tennis tournament, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Slaver of Clearfield were declared contract bridge champion of DuBois for 1941 when they scored highest in the tournament that had been under way for six weeks. Milan Gjurich of Conemaugh has been awarded by St. Francis college the Nelson award for "most outstanding ability." He starred in football, basketball and baseball. Everett Saylor, 30, Dayton, hurt in the Memorial day auto race at Indianapolis, has improved in an Indianapolis hospital. Fred Perry regained the world's professional singles championship at Chicago beating Dick Sheen, Hollywood. He supplants Don Budge who lost in the second round to John Fauman of Hollywood. With Budge and Don went on to win and keep the doubles title from Les Stoten and Keith Cleghill, of Los Angeles.

Schedule Two Games Wednesday

Weather having put baseball on the bench the next games carded for the Lawrence County Baseball league will be Wednesday. Wampum will play at Ellwood City and Bessemer at Hillsville.

National Open Begins Thursday

Lawson Little Is Defending Champion As Golfers Gather At Fort Worth, Texas

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 2.—Start of the 1941 national open golf tournament still is three days off, but the boys already were demonstrating today that par probably will be given a resounding beating when the firing begins.

Among those showing scant regard for the fairways and greens of Fort Worth's Colonial club course in practice rounds over the week-end were Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, Byron Nelson of Toledo, Gene Sarazen of East Chester, N. Y., Ralph Guldahl of Chicago and Lawson Little of Monterey, Cal., with Little this year's defending champion.

Dutra, in his first attempt, scored an even par 70 yesterday, but even that accomplishment was overshadowed by Guldahl's warm-ups. The big fellow not only matched par on Saturday, but came back to do it again yesterday.

Practice Rounds

Nelson and Sarazen both turned in 71's and gave evidence they'll shortly be doing better. Little didn't turn in cards for trials on Friday and Saturday, but appeared to be ready.

About half of the starting field of 172 pros and amateurs was on hand for the shooting which gets under way Thursday and will continue through Saturday. Most of them will crowd the course until practice ends Wednesday. On Thursday and Friday the field will battle for a total of 36 holes, and for Saturday's 18-hole final the field will be cut to the low 70 shooters plus ties.

FRANCIS OUMET STILL COMPETING

Despite the fact that he listed as a veteran, Francis Oumet is still running for his second National Open golf championship.

Oumet was the first amateur to ever win the Open title, finishing on top in 1913.

Cites State Cost Of Forest Fires

Chief Of Forest Protection Division Of State Tells Of Damage To Forests

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, June 2.—The loss of two lives, compensation for accidents, the destruction of a country church, a roadside gas station, houses, barns, private tree plantations between 45,000 and 50,000 acres of burned-over forest land and extinction costs of approximately $60,000 are Pennsylvania's toll for the spring forest fire season, according to George H. Wirt, chief, division of forest protection in the department of forests and waters.

Considering the fact that 99 per cent of the 3,000 forest fires this spring were prevented through the exercise of ordinary care, the loss of life, property and the devastation of land are exhibits of extreme carelessness on the part of many of our citizens.

Mr. Wirt points out that the prevention of forest fires cannot be accomplished by the department alone nor by civic and industrial agencies acting separately. The organized cooperation of organizations and individuals is necessary.

The fact that the average acre burned-over by each fire this spring has been less than 20 acres, evidences the fact that the department's protection organization is functioning efficiently in the extinguishing of forest fires.

A single railroad engine, in one day set 43 fires in sections of two counties. Arrests have been made and prosecutions instituted of those responsible for forest fires in the following counties: Luzerne, Northumberland, Fayette, Centre, Westmoreland, Blair, Somerset, Monroe, Clinton and Allegheny.

Fogues in the protection of forests from fires depends not only upon quick detection and suppression of the fires that occur, but the prevention of fires is the most important part of the protection program. Special attention is now being given by the department to this phase of protection. Studies of hazardous fire conditions, danger zones where fires are most likely to occur are being made in the different forest districts, in the hope that many fires may thus be prevented. More intensive inspections in the field, educational programs, conferences and cooperative agreements with public groups are other activities that are receiving attention.

Yankees Drop Indians Twice

Cleveland Pulled Out Of First Place By Double Defeat, White Sox Take Over Lead

DODGERS CARDS ARE DEADLOCKED

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Editors)

NEW YORK, June 2.—Winning pitchers, Ruffing and Gomez in today's box scores on that Sunday doubleheader which the New York Yankees won from the Cleveland Indians appeared the names of those two Yankee stalwarts of the past, with duly recorded victories over the team that most observers expect to win the American league pennant. Ruffing and Gomez—that was a parlay at one time, and could it be that somehow they will be able to go on for one more year and perhaps be the bell-wethers in another Yankee march to the pennant? It isn't likely, but somehow their names in the box scores as winners over the Indians reminds you that the latter go good with Feller and too often fade without him.

Ruffing handed the Indians their first shutout of the year by 2 to 0, then Gomez came along and won by 5 to 3, to make it seven defeats for the Indians in their last eight starts. Ruffing went the route, Gomez had to have help in the ninth, but still pitched a fine game. The Cleveland starters—neither of whom finished—were Al Milnar and Mel Harder.

White Sox Lead

As a result of the day's doings in the American league, the Indians dropped into the second spot in the standings, and the Chicago White Sox took over the lead by one percentage point by virtue of a split with the Washington Senators, who took the opener, 3 to 2, and dropped the nightcap, 4 to 3, in 11 innings. John Rigney hurled a three-hitter in losing the first game.

The Yankees hold down third place in the standings and the Boston Red Sox now are in fourth place as a result of 7 to 6 and 6 to 4 victories over the Detroit Tigers.

Phillies Climbed

The Philadelphia Athletics climbed to within mere percentage points of the first division by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2 and 5 to 3, in a pair of games which saw all four of the starting pitchers sent to the showers.

In National League

In the National league the Brooklyn Dodgers leaped into a tie for first place with a single victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2, for the St. Louis ninth win in a row, this one behind Kirby Higbe, who hurled a seven-hitter and won it against Max Lanier's four-hit ball.

Cardinals-Dodgers Tied

The Cardinals remained deadlocked with the Dodgers in the standings, each club having scored 31 victories against 12 defeats.

Hal Schumacher hurled the New York Giants to a 3 to 2 win over the Cincinnati Reds, and Curly Thompson then pitched the Reds to a victory over the Giants by the same score in a doubleheader between these two clubs.

The Chicago Cubs

The Chicago Cubs moved into fourth place with 9 to 5 and 1 to 0 victories over the Philadelphia Phillies. In the second game Jake Moity got a close decision over Lee Grissom in a tight hurling duel, in which each side made seven hits.

Pittsburgh and Boston were rained out.

Braves Style-Setters

The Boston Braves were big league style setters in gaudy uniforms. That was many years ago. Today with all the others having followed the lead, the Braves are very conservative in their diamond dress. At home their suits are plain white with black caps and stockings.

By MESEALL
I hope that every one is back home today . . . safe and sound . . . and that you all enjoyed the little vacation. It's getting around that time of year when some folks will be thinking about a vacation. Where will we go this summer is now the main topic of conversation. While you are deciding let me bring a little thought to mind, a thought that some people have evidently forgotten.

It seems that when the United States flag was passing in review last Memorial Day some folks neglected to pay the proper respect. According to the manual on "How to display your flag", the following rule should be observed. "During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those in uniform should give the right hand salute. Men not in uniform should remove their head-dress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart." . . . Folks we should pay attention to this rule . . . when we lose our respect for the "Stars and Stripes", we have lost all and you can mark down "this WAS a good country".

How is your defense garden? Have you planted all the vegetables that you plan to plant? Things have been doing a little growing the past two or three days . . . the warm rain yesterday did wonders for sweet corn . . . some folks haven't as yet planted their corn . . . if nothing happens this year there should be good crops throughout the country . . . each and every person should have their own sort of a vegetable garden . . . you say you haven't any ground . . . if you are not mistaken there is plenty of ground for all. Call city building they can tell you where you might get the land of some property. The Men's Garden Club are very much interested in Defense Gardens . . . if you get stuck with any problem, ask them, they might be able to help you out . . . in case you prefer call the County Farm Agent, his office is located in the Federal Building on the Diamond. (In other words the post office.)

There is still time to use the classified ads to help you with your camping trip. Ask the people through this page if they want to sell your camping equipment. 15 words for 30 cents.

'SUPPORT USO,' PRESIDENT ASKS

Tells Nation Armed Forces Will Be Impressed By Unity Shown

NEW YORK, June 2.—President Roosevelt's endorsement of the United Service Organizations for National Defense was cited today by New York District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, national campaign chairman, as indicating U. S. O.'s importance to the national defense program by proving to soldiers and sailors that the nation stands united behind them.

"Every citizen has an obligation to scrutinize his contribution to the common life he shares with his neighbors," the President declared. "United Service Organizations are fulfilling an essential and patriotic service."

The chief executive's remarks, addressed to more than 1,000 community leaders from all parts of the nation who met in Washington to discuss the U. S. O. program, referred to the coordination of effort by six major service organizations in bringing to the nation's armed forces and defense workers a wide program of recreation, social activity and spiritual guidance.

He commented that "the multitudinous things this team-work must and will accomplish, are all important—from the major task of operating community centers in some 360 areas of defense concentration to the apparently minor task of providing a cup of coffee and a comfortable chair."

Member agencies of the U. S. O. are the Y. M. C. A., the National Catholic Community Service, the Salvation Army, the Y. W. C. A., the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association.

A nationwide campaign for $10,765,000 with which to finance the U. S. O. program in more than 360 service clubs adjacent to army camps, naval bases and defense industries will begin June 3.
